PSYCHIATRIC ASSAULT - AN ANATOMY OF TODAY'S TERRORISM

"Chaos and Terror Manufactured by Psychiatry - Report and recommendations on the role of psychiatry in international terrorism"

In the wake of the horrific and continued terrorist attacks around the world, there are many questions that remain unanswered. However, there is one unnerving question that is on everyone's mind.

"What sort of human being can be so cold-heartedly cruel and violently destructive of others and self, methodically planning and executing mass murder and suicide, with no apparent sense of the sheer inhumanity of their plan?"

While the words may vary, the essential question remains the same. Put more simply, "What sort of person is capable of such evil?"

This unthinkable hellish act has assaulted far more than innocent lives and our physical environment; it has assaulted our very senses. There is however, a way to face up to even the utterly unfrontable: compare it to events with which we are already familiar — in effect, take a gradient approach to it. For the truth is, we have been here before, only to a more isolated or lesser degree.

Consider the insanity of Hitler's "final solution" and Nazi design, which terrorized the world 60 years ago, or Karadzic's or Milosevic's equally insane "ethnic cleansing" and terrorist purges in Bosnia and Kosovo in the 90's. While we may be emotionally insulated from these horrors by time or geography, the similarities are apparent.

But consider also that on April 20, 1999, in Colorado, USA, Columbine High School students Eric Harris and Dylan Klebold went on a shooting spree, killing 12 students and one teacher, wounding 23 others, and finally shooting themselves.

While on a comparatively minor scale, how is this similar to the terrorist attacks on New York and Washington, DC? What about inexplicable and unexpected violence, terror, innocent victims, death, destruction and the suicide of the protagonists, to name a few? And again, we asked the demoralizing question, "What sort of person is capable of such evil?"

Today, "experts" tell us that such terror merchants are not insane, mad or irrational. Is a terrorist therefore born with an innate impulse to butcher thousands of innocent people and terrorize millions more, while harboring a suicidal impulse? Is a terrorist someone of specific nationality, race or religion?

Expert opinion to the contrary, we contend that the scourge of terrorism is insanity and irrationality and that such insanity contains a continuous determination to harm or destroy. We also contend that the terrorist is rarely born full-armed with murderous intent, nor is he peculiar to any one country, race or religion.

Ultimately, terrorism is no more than the product of individual madmen, and with those madmen, come equally mad agendas. But most importantly, today their evil is being amplified beyond belief by mental control techniques that were also born in hell. Today, such men are being influenced by psychiatric or psychological techniques aimed squarely at mind- or behavioral-control.

Injured during World War I, Hitler was hypnotized by a psychiatrist who implanted in him the belief that his beloved Germany needed him to recover in order to serve the cause of a national resurrection. German psychiatrists now admit that Hitler was influenced by their ideology of "racial inferiority" and "life devoid of value." Radovan Karadzic is the Sarajevo psychiatrist who lit the fires of racism in the Balkans. Karadzic's patient, Slobovan Milosovic, continued ethnic cleansing.

Harris underwent psychological anger management programs and was prescribed an antidepressant, side effects of which include mania, aggression and hostility.

The chief advisor to Osama Bin Laden, the alleged terrorist behind the recent attack on America, is a psychiatrist trained in psychological techniques, and capable of using drugs and other mental techniques to create suicide-bombers convinced of the glory of sacrifice and dying.

While we have known about psychiatric and psychological techniques for mind- and behavioral-control for some considerable time, never have we had such cause to question their hidden assault on our well-being, and the well-being of the world around us.

Terrorists are not sane, rational men; today, they are manufactured murderers.

I have been looking over the lists of services in various websites and many seem to be excluding or forgetting about the Orlando Youth Alliance. I hope you will include OYA. You may think that Zebra and OYA are the same. We are two separate organizations both offering critical services.

I know our services are needed as an example a dad from South Lake County drove over an hour to bring his 16 year old daughter to OYA this week, because she can't stop crying and is scared to leave the house. This is time for unity. Please help make Orlando United.

Thank you.

At the Orlando Youth Alliance we provide support groups for LGBTQ youth ages 13-24. The topics we normally discuss (bullying, coming out to parents) will now change in the weeks and months ahead. Pulse was a meeting place for our older members. Many celebrated their 18th birthday at Pulse. Some of our members left Pulse just 30 minutes before the shooting. They lost friends. Survivor guilt is real. If you know any LGBT or Allied youth who would benefit from OYA please reach out. Let's help our youth cope and be strong again.

Please share with the community that the Orlando Youth Alliance is offering three, free weekly support groups. The groups currently are being led by a LMHC and offering grief counseling and support for youth ages 13-24 who are dealing with survivor guilt or having a difficult time coming to grips with this tragedy.

Our groups are facilitated by criminally background checked adults and have security or police presence.

"Downtown Orlando has no bottom. The entire city should be leveled. It is void of a single redeeming quality. It is a melting pot of 3rd world miscreants and ghetto thugs. It is void of culture. If you live down there you do it at your own risk and at your own peril.

"If you go down there after dark there is seriously something wrong with you. Disney does everything in its power to shield visitors of Disney from its northern blight. That doesn't change reality. Disney may be the happiest place on earth but Orlando is a national embarrassment. If this is an act of domestic terrorist it is so important that we don't publish the religion, name, or motive of the terrorist as not to offend anyone."

Dear Orlando Philharmonic Family,

When the Orlando Philharmonic purchased The Plaza Live in August of 2013, our goal was to provide the Orlando community with high-quality, uplifting musical performances presented by the Philharmonic and visiting artists alike. This dream started to become a reality as we celebrated the opening of the first phase of The Plaza Live Renovations last month.

While our mission remains strong, the senseless attack that took place here last Friday and the horrific events on Sunday at Pulse Club have had a life-changing impact on us all.

Our hearts and deepest sympathies go out to the family and friends of Christina Grimmie as well as those of the 49 victims from Pulse. Unspeakable tragedies like these affect everyone, including those who, through no fault of their own, become involved. We are grateful to the many who are helping heal and care for those impacted, including our own staff members who will be forever affected.

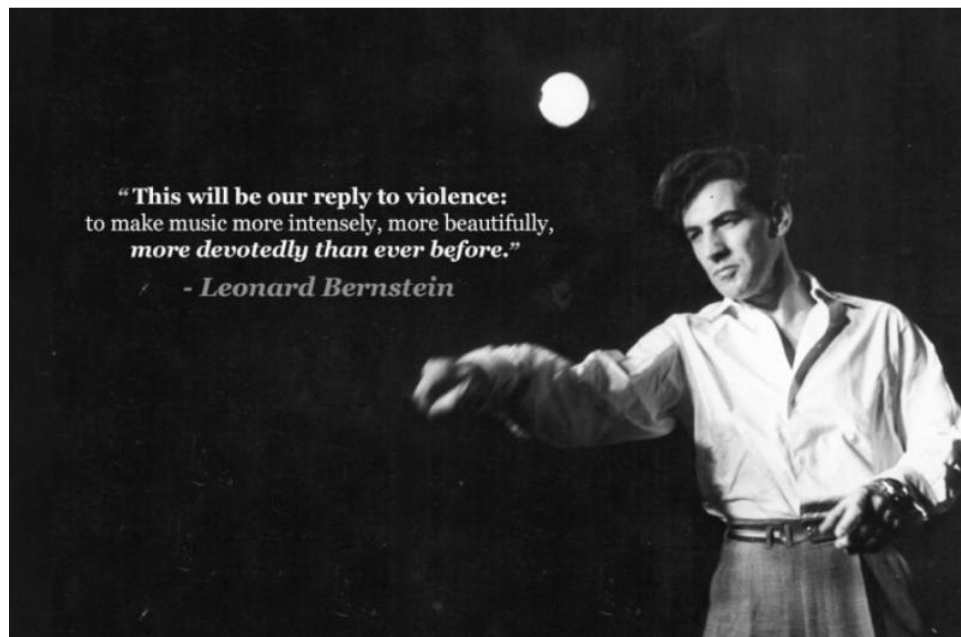

Part of healing requires moving forward. On Thursday, June 16, we reopened The Plaza Live with a performance by Yacht Rock Revue with a strong showing of support from The Friends, The Board, and the YRR band's own dedicated, captain-hat-wearing fans. The audience shared a moment of silence at the beginning of the show for both Ms. Grimmie and the Pulse victims. It was an uplifting night of spirited music that comforted the hearts of all who attended. We are committed to continuing to offer inspiring music of all kinds at the Plaza Live. Additionally, the Orlando Philharmonic Orchestra is collaborating on numerous community tribute performances and the Plaza Live will open its doors for community gatherings.

We all mourn the tragic loss of life and send our condolences to everyone affected in the events of last weekend. Thank you all for the outpouring of love and support for our organization and our community. Let us turn to the arts and music that inspire us, to help us heal and move forward.

Good morning:

In the wake of last Saturdays shooting, there has been so much information but I just happened to catch a glimpse of a news story that this assistant state attorney had been suspended for a post on Facebook after the massacre. Suspended.really? This person needs to be fired for gross misconduct of the office he's supposed to represent. His words are tge epitome of prejudice and he's supposed to be a prosecutor. Are you kidding me? I like how the media has glossed over his ignorance and his statements are the type of thing that we need to fight in this country. I'd like to see his court transcripts of his cases involving minorities based on his Facebook post, did these people receive a fair trial? I'm going to go with NO!

Be part of the solution here Mr. Mayor, get rid of this guy as publiclically as possible to show Orlando you care.

Respectfully,

Dear Mr. Mayor,

Below is a copy of an IM from Facebook that was sent to my daughter last night by a person that NONE of my family knows. It references in this IM that MY daughter should have died in the mass shooting in your city. I have already lost my youngest daughter at age 30 & we adopted her two children to continue to raise. I DO NOT find comments like the one below to be attractive, nor funny. I know you are a busy person, and do not want to take up much of your time, but I thought that you needed to know that this person is saying the things that she's saying. Dear Commissioner and Mayor,

As a citizen of Orlando and long time admirer of both of you, I am particularly grateful for all you are doing to coordinate pastoral response in the current scene. I have just been contacted this morning by Presbyterian Disaster Response to be informed that there is a team of two here to work with Presbyterian pastors with a meeting scheduled for 2PM Monday at the College Park Presbyterian Church. My contact with the team has been through voicemail messages and I do not know whether they have yet made contact with your office to coordinate their work with Presbyterian pastors as a part of the overall pastoral response.

This seems to me like too good a chance to pass up for someone from the city to meet folks from PDA and see how the city can draw on their disaster response skills as a part of the response as well as for them to learn about the excellent response the city has been providing since day one and will continue to provide in the years ahead.

I will be happy to go with someone from the city to the meeting on Monday if that could be useful. If all this is already coordinated, I'll just show up and act like the willing retired helper that I am. Let me know if I can be useful in introducing a city representative to the PDA team. I worked with PDA in disaster response in 2003 through 2012 when I was Executive Presbyter here. The current EP is away at the General Assembly of our church this week.

Blessings,
Paige

Subject: Dyer family question - geneology

Dear Mayor Dyer,

Several years ago when I was a resident of Orlando I met with one of my mother's cousins, an older gentleman by the name of Buddy Dyer. He was in possession of a family Bible that had many genealogical dates in it. I lost touch with him shortly thereafter and then moved away from Florida. In the years since I have tried to locate him, with no success. When reading an article about the horrible tragedy that unfolded in Orlando last week, I was struck by your name and thought that it might be worth reaching out to you to see if the gentleman I met with was possibly a grandfather or uncle to you. My mother's family was from East Tennessee and I've been unable to get much information on the Dyer side of the family, despite the large number of siblings in my grandfather's family of origin. I recognize that it is a long-shot but hope that if you have the opportunity to read and respond to this message you might let me know of any connection to that branch of the family.

I thank you for your time and offer my heartfelt condolences for the terrible loss your community has experienced. Kudos to your first responders on their admirable handling of the situation.

Sincerely,

Elizabeth Miller

Buddy,

Greetings. I was the guy that developed Electric Daisy Carnival here in Orlando. I am trying to get in touch with someone from the One Orlando site. We have a bunch of big name international electronic artists that are interested in putting together a charity event. Ron Legler is a dear friend, and I was actually the lighting designer that originally created Pulse with him.

I have already budgeted the show and I am awaiting artist management approvals. This thing has to happen fast since these guys play so many shows a year. I need a charity to get involved and which better than the official Orlando charity. Hundreds of volunteers from many different major companies here in Orlando have stepped up and pledged to donate their support to make this event happen. We expect to max out the fairgrounds amphitheater at 10,000 people. My target budget is to raise around $350,000 for the cause.

Can you help me get in touch with someone that can work directly with us as this event becomes reality?

Thank you with a heavy heart,

Jeff Kenney

As our community continues to recover from the Pulse tragedy, we have opened a Family Assistance Center to serve as a critical connection between victims and the important services they need as part of their recovery. Over the past two days since we opened the center at Camping World Stadium, 94 families and 256 individuals have visited to receive help. But we know there are still more victims in need of help and we want them to know we are here for them.

The Family Assistance Center isn't just for those who lost loved ones or were injured, it is for anyone affected by the tragedy. If you, your friends or family members have been affected by the shooting, please encourage them to seek help. We have made access to these services as easy as possible. Hours of operations and resources available at the Family Assistance Center are listed on our website cityoforlando.net/familyassistancecenter.

Thank you for continuing to stand together as one Orlando.

The City of Orlando experienced a horrific event on Sunday, June 12; one no city should ever have to face. I have been so humbled by the outpouring of support from many of you asking how you can help and get involved.

In remembrance of those that lost their lives, we are asking for our Downtown churches to ring their bells 49 times at 2:02 a.m. on Sunday, June 19. Each chime will stand to represent and honor each victim.

In the days and weeks ahead, my hope is that we continue to unite and come together as one community, supporting the families and friends of the victims. We will not be defined by these events, but will find strength through our diversity and how we treat each other.

Thank you for your continued support.

Subject: ASA Kenneth Lewis

Dear Mayor Dyer,

We're very disturbed and frightened by ASA Kenneth Lewis's continued efforts to incite violence. He recently said the entire city of Orlando "should be leveled." Another one of his Facebook posts about a 19-year-old arrested for breaking into a home argued that the suspect should be "executed on the spot" with a gunshot to the head. As you know regarding freedom of speech, the Supreme Court has ruled that threats of violence directed at a person or group of persons that have the intent of placing the target at risk of bodily harm or death are generally unprotected. Therefore we have two requests of your office:

1. Ensure that Kenneth Lewis's employment as an ASA is terminated.
2. Ensure that state or federal charges are brought against him for inciting violence.

Please let us know if your office is willing to assist us with these two requests.

Mayor Dyer,

This is former Redondo Beach, CA Mayor and former USCM Advisory Board member Mike Gin.

I wanted to express my deepest condolences to you and your community on the horrific crime that was inflicted on your city last weekend. As a gay man, this past week for me has been full of emotion as I process the Pulse nightclub attack. I remember my 20's when a gay nightclub such as Pulse was a safe place for me to socialize as I was still dealing with the challenges and emotions of coming out as a gay man. Tears welled in my eyes as I thought about the terror that patrons must have felt in the Club early that morning.

Earlier this week, I made a call to Accredo Specialty Pharmacy and noticed that the number I had dialed had a 407 area code. I asked the representative on the line where they were based. The Accredo rep said that she lived in Orlando. She also mentioned that one of her colleagues at Accredo was still in the hospital after suffering injuries from the attack. My heart was broken as we both spoke about the attack.

I want to thank you and your community for the strength, compassion, and resilience that you have displayed this past week through this tragedy. Your actions and leadership during this crisis have brought comfort and strength for millions of us in our Nation and throughout the world who have been affected by horrific attack.

I'm honored to have met and worked with you through USCM during my time as Mayor of Redondo Beach.

With gratitude, appreciation and admiration,

Angie Communications Announces Fiber Agreement with California's Wilcon

Angie will utilize Wilcon's 3,000 miles of fiber and communications infrastructure for the backhaul and servicing of its ubiquitous Gigabit wireless Internet network in California, starting in Los Angeles City.

(Click here to open in a browser)

LOS ANGELES, CA – June 16, 2016 – Angie Communications USA, Inc. today announced that the company has entered into a Master Services Agreement with Wilcon, a premier West Coast provider of best-in-class fiber optic network and data center infrastructure, to utilize Wilcon's infrastructure for the backhaul and servicing of its upcoming ubiquitous wireless Internet networks in California.

Angie is the world's largest telecom startup. In the coming months, Angie will start rolling out a large scale wireless networks in Europe and the USA, delivering Gigabit connectivity to wireless users under its Wireless Extreme brand. The company is building the world's only multi-nation next-generation communications infrastructure, anchored on optical fiber, which the firm either directly owns or leases from -or builds in cooperation with- some of the world's largest fiber network operators. In aggregate, Angie will connect its Wireless Gigabit users to multi-(ten) terabit pipes.

Angie will roll out cutting-edge 5G-ready telecommunications networks in USA cities and neighborhoods. Angie's outdoor wireless infrastructure will include the latest carrier-class Wi-Fi technology. In each neighborhood, 10 -15 outdoor wireless access points will be directly connected to Angie's fiber optic network, strengthened by many street level access points. Industry experts are well aware that the 5G promise cannot be fulfilled without such an ultra-dense wireless infrastructure, which needs to be fiber-fed. Only fiber backhaul (with multiple terabits per second connectivity) can handle the upcoming exponential growth of mobile and wireless data usage. Angie's wireless network is beyond 5G-ready; due to the connection on Angie's virtually unlimited fiber capacity, its network is 5G-primed - intelligent, connected, wired and wireless.

Angie brings fiber to thousands of buildings and sites in its markets, fully equipped with the most advanced wired and wireless technologies. As a result, Gigabit wireless speeds per user could be available. Parallel to its Gigabit Wireless Extreme service, Angie will also start providing 10 Gbps speeds to businesses at very competitive rates, soon followed by residential services at 10 Gbps per connection.

About Angie

Angie was founded by an international team of highly qualified technology professionals. Angie's team includes renowned visionaries and industry pioneers who have helped shape the 4G mobile, 5G wireless and Fiber-To-The Premises industries. Angie's founding team has a combined 500+ years of experience in business; its executive team consists of industry pioneers and experts with a combined 300 years of telecom experience.

Recently, Angie named Gregory Nemitz to lead the USA and Canada 5G Wireless project. He has been involved with the firm since 1999, and is one of the founding architects of Angie's international business and technology models.

Founded in 1998, Wilcon is the premier West Coast provider of best-in-class fiber optic network and data center infrastructure. As one of the largest fiber optic networks in Southern California, Wilcon offers a vast reach of nearly 3,000 route miles of fiber with diverse routes connecting major data centers, enterprise locations and wireless communications sites throughout the region. Wilcon delivers dark fiber and ultra-broadband optical services for businesses, wireless carriers and other communications service providers that ensure optimal performance for their mission-critical data traffic and applications. Wilcon also owns and operates leading data center and carrier-neutral colocation facilities in downtown Los Angeles, including its key hub at the One Wilshire Building.

Subject: An Activist Letter on the Orlando Massacre

“Thou shalt not be a victim, thou shalt not be an oppressor. But above all, thou shalt not be a bystander.” - Yehuda Bauer on the Holocaust

My name is Olivia Pierce, and I am a fourteen-year old African-American girl from Edina, Minnesota. In light of the recent horrors plaguing our nation and our American people, I would like to bring an urgent matter to your attention.

On the morning of March 7th, 1965, Martin Luther King Jr. and several other civil rights activists led more than six hundred marchers on a peaceful protest across the Edmund Pettis Bridge in Selma, Alabama. However, they were met with a barricade of policemen and state troopers. They refused to turn back. Hence, they were brutally mauled by police dogs and attacked with billy clubs and tear gas. Over fifty people were hospitalized.

On the morning of June 12th, 2016, Omar Mateen stormed the Pulse nightclub with two semi-automatic weapons and opened fire, murdering forty-nine innocent people and injuring fifty-three more. He acted viciously on what we know was an intense feeling of hatred and intolerance, just like those Alabamian policemen did almost fifty years earlier.

This attack on the LGBT community was fueled by a cultivated feeling of nefarious loathing that has existed far longer in the United States than you may suppose. The evil disdain has woven itself like a weed through our society, from the times of slavery to the cases of police brutality and now to this, the largest massacre in our country's history. This deep-rooted parasite will not go away. In the land of the free and the home of the brave, no one should be in danger for their lives because of who they want to love. We have to live up to our nation's promise of justice for all, not just for the straight, white, male population.

We have to save our country from the descending shadow that is hatred and intolerance. We can make our nation better, but to do that, we must act. We cannot simply shake our heads, mutter our condolences, and then turn away and carry on with our lives. As Martin Luther King Jr. said, “Our lives begin to end the day we become silent about things that matter.” Don't be silent now. Expecting someone else to solve this problem won't do anything, because that's what everybody else is doing. This is an urgent issue. If we don't act now, I'm sure you are aware that these sorts of horrible monstrosities will continue to happen again and again.

We have to do something. Firstly, we need laws focused on gun control. We all have the right to bear arms, but if we were to look at the uses for a semi-automatic weapon, we would see that it is almost never used for a good reason. In the United States last year alone, 12, 942 people died to due gun-related homicides and suicides. Allowing your average American to buy an assault rifle after filling out a few forms is certainly not going to prevent future shootings. You could argue that you need one to protect your house and your family. Well, there's a chance that you may encounter a criminal near your home, but you don't need a semi-automatic weapon to defend yourself, especially if an enemy is at close range. In fact, keeping a semi-automatic rifle puts your family at more risk than if a criminal did break into your house. When a child or teen is killed by a gun, 72% of the time it is a weapon found in their own home. You might like to use your assault weapon to go hunting for sport. If you are need a 25-round magazine to successfully hit a rabbit, then you should not be hunting without proper training and practice, rather than killing solely for the purpose of exercising your superiority. We don't need semi-automatic weapons, and allowing them to be privately-owned with virtually no regulations is not the way to go if our main priority as a country is in preserving more American lives.

Secondly, we need to educate our children on ideas of equality. We need to teach them that everyone is equal and that we are all people with the same beating hearts under our different-colored skin or the different hands we wish to hold. To quote Kellin Quinn, the lead singer of a band born in Orlando, "If we hope to be free, it takes you and me, to start over here and now. 'Cause this world is the way it is. It's how we raise our kids." We have to raise our community - the children in our schools and homes - with notions of tolerance and love, so that we can strip away that feeling of hatred and ignorance.

Finally, we cannot deflect this cruelty onto another group. We can't scapegoat the Muslim community as a reason for the evil residing in the United States. The Islamic law urges Muslims to be tolerant and helpful to all people, and to be reflections of mercy, justice, and love. There is a group radical Muslims, but we cannot assume that this means all Muslims are bad. (We don't blame all Christians for the killing of a doctor who provided women the right to choose abortion by one radical Christian.) After all, Muhammad Ali was Muslim, and to assume such a thing would be to soil his memory and all that he stood for as a civil rights activist. Fighting against each other will only fuel the intolerance that has already spread its way through all of our modern society. We must turn our attention towards eliminating the evil instead of focusing so hard on destroying the evil-doer.

Those people did not deserve to die, not by any means. They were killed because of prejudice and discrimination, and as American people, we all allowed it to happen. We need to act now and prove that their deaths were not in vain. Don't just slip this horrific tragedy under the rug. Our country is falling rapidly into pandemonium, but it's not too late. We can preserve the promise inalienable rights such as life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness. We can fight for our fundamental human rights. I have unfailing faith that justice will prevail.

Sincerely,

Olivia Moyana Pierce

Subject: Gigabit Broadband Story

Honorable Mayors,

I have attached a story that speaks about how Gigabit Broadband has caused a Tech spike in TN.

Chattanooga's 'explosion' of tech growth driven by gigabit municipal fiber, mayor says

www.fiercetelecom.com

Municipal broadband was the driving force behind Chattanooga's economic revival over the past few years, according to Mayor Andy Berke. A drop in unemployment, a sustained rise in wages and a boost in the manufacturing and tech sectors have all taken place over the last three years, and the city is seeing a minor boom in tech startups.

Thank you,

Chris Johnston

Good morning mayor dyer from Oakfield, WI, a small town north of Milwaukee, WI. I am sure you have a million emails to read through so I'll keep mine brief. I'm including 2 pictures, one drawn by my wife and the other by my 8 year old daughter. Having to explain to her the tragedy that took place has not been an easy task but sadly in this day in age, a necessary one. After talking to her about what happened, she came up with the "peace-love-Orlando" idea herself and as a dad I couldn't be prouder.

Please know that your city is in our thoughts, prayers for a tough recovery from this senseless act of violence. God bless you sir and I hope these 2 images will continue to give you hope.
